Third Sunday of Lent, C

The Lord is compassionate and gracious.

It's funny how slang goes in and out of fashion. You wouldn't, for example, hear many people these days make a mild curse by saying "Heavens to Betsy"! Another phrase which has definitely gone out of fashion is saying "Who do you think you are- the Great I Am?". You could think of that as simply meaning "And how important do you think you are?". However, it really means "Do you really think you are God?".

The people of Israel were very careful about taking God's name in vain. His name in Hebrew was never used- and, as a way round it, the name YHWH was spelt with the wrong vowels (Hebrew is written with only consonants, but vowels sounds were added with special marks). This is where the name Jehovah originated. They would also use Elohim (El in Hebrew means a god, but isn't his name) or Adonai, meaning Lord.

However, God knows that sometimes we need reassurance. God revealed himself to Moses using the form "I am who I am". This means that, whenever this form comes up, we can know that it indicates God. This really comes into its own in John's Gospel. There are a number of "I Am" speeches by Jesus. They all start I am...: so I am the Good Shepherd, I am the Bread of Life, and so on.

They are beautiful by themselves, but Jesus is starting them this way for a reason. In Greek, eimi means I am- as those who know Italian will know, you don't need to say the pronoun. The same is true in Greek- ego, meaning I isn't needed. Jesus uses it, saying ego eimi. This puts emphasis on the I- so I am. And this is because what he is saying is "I am God, and..."- he is echoing God's name as revealed to Moses.

We can have this great reassurance: it is God who is in charge in the Old Testament, and Jesus is God, and so looking after us in the New. As we go through Lent, as we go through life, let's rejoice that God really is caring for us.

God bless, Fr Stephen.
